Teaching or Research Fellowship

Up to 20 hours of work per week focus exclusively on teaching or research

- University-funded assistantships may be awarded, competitively, to those students who have applied for an appointment and who are academically eligible.
- We highly recommend contacting the graduate coordinator for the department that you are applying to or have been admitted to in order to inquire about assistantship opportunities available in the academic department. Most assistantships are awarded to doctoral students and some programs fund 100% of their graduate students while others do not. It is important to contact the program directly to see how they structure their assistantships.
- The application for a graduate appointment is included as part of your application packet for admission to Kent State.
