Who is this for?

This programme is aimed at those seeking management level positions. You'll develop your academic, communication, and professional skills, while exploring the current and future challenges that firms face. You'll also gain the skills and knowledge needed to provide recommendations on how to improve organisations.

Why choose this programme?

- Explores how leaders and managers run organisations internationally
- Prepares graduates for the highest standard of management-level positions
- Focuses on practical knowledge and skills
- Helps to improve independence, self-direction and development
- Enhances opportunities and employability in a range of areas such as management consultancy, HR and operations

What will you learn?

- The knowledge, understanding and skills relevant for pursuing a management career
- A broad, critical and integrated study of management for students with non-management degrees
- How to systematically and creatively inform management practice through the development of advanced knowledge and understanding
- How to use the appropriate tools and techniques beneficial to business operations
- The ability to grow your independence, self-direction and self-development
